

Orange County Residents Urged to Self-Report Damages to Homes and Businesses

Following Winter Storm Uri, the Orange County Office of Emergency Management is encouraging all residents in Orange County and the entire Southeast Texas area to self-report any damages to their homes and/or businesses via the portal and website below.

If you sustained damage to your home or business as a result of Uri, please utilize these links(s) to submit a damage survey. Within the survey you will have the opportunity to upload photos of your damages. Please make sure photos are clear and depict all damages.

This voluntary self-reporting is very important to establish damage thresholds for our county and state. It is not a substitute for reporting damages to your insurance agent. Residents and business that have insurance policies should also report damages to your insurance agents AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.
